

Sustainable Mobility Awards

The EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK Award showcases local authorities that demonstrate significant efforts in promoting sustainable urban mobility. In 2017, a second category was added that recognises the sustainable mobility achievements of smaller towns and cities in Europe. The SUMP Award celebrates outstanding sustainable urban mobility planning.

EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK

16-22 SEPTEMBER 2018

Mix and Move!

About EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK

EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK runs from 16–22 September each year, providing towns and cities with an opportunity to test out sustainable transport alternatives. By encouraging individuals to choose sustainable transport modes such as walking and cycling, we can lower our carbon emissions, improve the quality of our air, and make our urban areas more pleasant places to live and work. 2017 was the most successful edition of EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK to date, with over 2,500 towns and cities participating.

Mix and Move!

Europeans love variety – in food, in fashion, in music – so why is it that when it comes to transport so many of us stick to one mode? This year's EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK encourages us to explore the many different options available for getting from A to B, and to think about the mode that best suits our particular journey.

Why not try cycling to the gym, taking a train to the office, or strolling to the shops? By embracing the concept of multimodality and introducing some sustainable transport methods into our journeys, not only can we have a positive impact on the environment, we may just find that we're fitter and happier, with some extra spending money too!

MOBILITYACTIONS

Looking to take part in EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK outside of 16–22 September?

Businesses, NGOs, schools and other actors who want to get involved in the EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK campaign are encouraged to register their MOBILITYACTION online.

Unlike participation in EUROPEANMOBILITYWEEK, MOBILITYACTIONS can be held all year round. Let the world know about the steps you're taking to encourage smarter ways of getting from A to B.

Visit www.mobilityweek.eu/mobility-actions for more information.
